Apollo

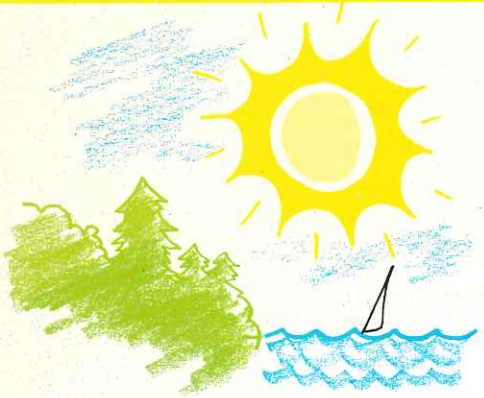
Number One for Fun in the Sun!



Any kind of weather is fine with an Apollo Travel Trailer. You'll stay comfortable in the dry, insulated home away from home. Apollos are built to the highest specifications of the finest materials. Attention to the smallest details assure you that you have one of the finest trailers in the country — bar none!

Don't just take our word for it though, see an Apollo for yourself and you'll agree. Your dealer will be happy to show you the model of your choice.

Here is an interior picture of an Apollo travel trailer. Notice the compact arrangement that packs more livability into every square foot. The people that make Apollos are camper people too. They know what campers like and their needs. That is why each of the Apollo models is similar in layout, the larger the coach, the more "stretch-out" room for added comfort.

Where Apollos are made...

Apollos are constructed at this large plant, just north of the Indiana-Michigan line, 6 miles north of Elkhart, Indiana, trailer capital of the world. Medford Industries is easy to reach from the Indiana East-West toll road interchange four miles from the plant.
